Chair

Barbara Angus (USA)

This session will focus on the similarities and differences in how countries in North America are approaching the global tax reforms being developed in the OECD/G20 Inclusive Framework, beginning with an overview of each country's participation in, perspectives on, and priorities for the two-pillar project. Panellists will then do a deeper dive on each pillar, looking at the positions of each country's government and business community on the fundamental changes contemplated and considering the political process for implementation of the new rules as well as the tax authority's readiness to administer them.
